

Tricia Holderman Biography

Tricia Holderman is nationally recognized as one of the leading authorities in the cleaning industry. She has been the CEO of Elite Home Services for 27 years catering to the largest homes in the Dallas area. As the President and CEO of Elite Facility Systems for more than 12 years she is considered an expert in providing services for better medical dental and health facilities. Tricia consults with clients throughout the United States, Europe, Russia and the Middle East.

She was the youngest woman chosen for the National Advisory Board for Proctor and Gamble. Ms. Holderman has held positions of leadership in local, regional, and national organizations. She is a member of many industry associations such as International Executive Housekeepers Association; American Society for Healthcare Environmental Services; Luxury Marketing Council; International Medical Spa Association and International Sanitary Supply Association. She is listed in Cambridge Executive Who's Who and was named Outstanding Young American.

Ms. Holderman is certified in many areas of Infection Control, Facility Management, Safety, Emergency Preparedness and Business Continuity.

Tricia has appeared on the cover of Success Magazine and has been featured over 100 times in print and television shows. She has been honored numerous times for her achievements and involvement in the community. She was chosen as a member of the National Dream Clean Team by her peers.

She has been politically involved, having run for state office on a small business platform.

Ms. Holderman resides in Dallas, Texas.